About Sa'diyya

Sa'diyya, began her studies in Middle Eastern Dance (aka Raqs Sharqi, Oriental Dance and Belly Dance) in the Fall of 1996 under the instruction of Isis (Ya Halla Y'all, "The Chronicles... A Belly Dancer's Oasis") in Bedford, Texas. As her interest and talent grew in this beautiful art form, Sa'diyya began to perform extensively at private and public events, both locally and nationally, such as nursing homes, renaissance festivals, special dance concerts, seminar shows, fundraisers, numerous restaurants and private parties. Her teaching career took off in 2000 with her first class, Ethnic Fusion, a spin-off and combination of American Tribal Style and authentic folkloric Middle Eastern Dances. Soon after, she started to teach her own energetic, innovative, sassy, yet warm style of the classical Egyptian belly dance, Raqs Sharqi, all along continuing to be a perpetual student studying with the top Middle Eastern Dance artists in the world! She has studied with American and Middle Eastern Dance stars alike
